Surgeons Warn Against Transplants For Patients in their 20s

Published on July 16, 2014 by adminz

Surgeons are starting to warn against patients, in their 20s, deciding to have transplant surgery. Those patients that have had surgery in the 20s can find themselves with a strip of hair in the front of their head with a large bald patch immediately behind, giving a very unnatural look. One particular surgeon Dr. Abraham Armani gave his views on the subject in this article.
